HALIBURTON HIGHLANDS, December 13, 2013 - The Reading/Writing Connection, is proud to announce the launch of their new Website: www.reading-writing-connection.ca/

The new Website. for The Reading/Writing Connection, will provide information for upcoming events and links for research enabling writers, especially those interested in memoir writing.

The Reading/Writing Connection (RWC), is a focused group of writers, in partnership with The Haliburton County Public Library, who meet twice per month to encourage and foster each other to write and publish their work. This is accomplished through guest speakers and readings that trigger the imagination and bring back life memories.

Pauline Johnson stated, "The purpose of RWC is to encourage people to write their memoirs or stories relating to their lives or the lives of their families. Our meetings combine a book club aspect with a writing circle purpose."

The public is encouraged to join RWC Members, as they share stories and enjoy special guest speakers. at monthly meetings, on the first and third Wednesday of each month. There is also a social aspect, with members enjoying local restaurants for lunch, following each meeting.
